Christmas 2024

Merry Christmas, friends and family ♥ We hope you are well and send our wishes for peace and joy at Christmas, and health and safety in the New Year. Lots of things to be grateful for – here's a few...

Carnarvon Gorge – Peter, Liz and Myles walked the Carnarvon Great Walk circuit over five days mid-year. The view from Battleship Spur was outstanding and gave perspective to the whole walk. We experienced a warmer, wetter period at the time, so we were lucky to avoid frozen water pipes overnight at the campsites. Thanks to Felix for minding the house and walking the dogs while we were away. Myles gained a good number of driving hours along the way.

Germany – Peter and Felix visited family in Germany and took in a lot of big meals, big beers, sightseeing and walking. The time visiting family was very special, and their hospitality was wonderful.

Myles - has thrived in grade 11 at trade school and aims to become an electrician. He has had work experience and is now doing casual holiday work with Power Doctors, who have indicated that he can start his apprenticeship with them when he gets his driver's licence. He has clocked his driving hours and booked his driving test. He also joined the local Rural Fire Service.

Felix - gets 6s and 7s in his electrical engineering/IT dual degree, and turns his hand to a variety of work in holiday internships at uni, at uni orientation/open days, and during elections. He has found a nice bunch of people there to be his tribe.

Running - the family enjoys park runs, and Peter and Liz will reach their 100th run next year. Rocks River Park is our home event, so that we can visit Pete's mum afterwards. Pete and Liz wonder if they can stretch to a half marathon next year (maybe writing it down might help make it happen?).

Nanna – Liz's mum passed away in August after many chronic health challenges topped off with a hip fracture. She is at peace and that's good for her. Dad misses her and is adjusting; Liz's brother and sister-in-law give terrific support.

Merry Christmas and Best Wishes for 2025, God bless & ♥, The Meiers
